

Jennifer is a partner at Husch Blackwell and is a member of the firm's real estate, development and construction group. Jennifer has spent her legal career guiding clients on minimizing risk and maximizing results in commercial real estate transactions. She has extensive experience in representing clients in all aspects of purchase and sale transactions across the country as well as advising on development projects locally. In 2018, Jennifer guided a team of 30 professionals in a $1.325 billion transaction involving the acquisition of 112 self-storage properties located in 17 states and Puerto Rico. She assists clients with entitlements, condominium formation and development, debt financings, management agreements and entity formation and governance. Jennifer also has significant experience with the railroad industry, representing a Class I railroad in connection with a variety of public projects, including federally supported railroad improvement projects. Jennifer is a member of the Husch Blackwell Opportunity Zones Practice Group, a multidisciplinary practice group of attorneys located throughout the Husch Blackwell footprint.